

Family Perceptions of Pyramid Model Implementation

Family members were surveyed about their family's experience at their child's program implementing the Pyramid Model.

Family/Program Partnerships Families surveyed Strongly Agree/Agree...

Child Outcomes

Families surveyed Strongly Agree/Agree...

95% My child has learned the school and classroom rules.
94% My child has learned to make new friends.

My child learned how to resolve conflicts with other children.

My child has learned to be more sensitive to other people's feelings.

My child has more self-confidence after attending this program.

Overall, I think my child has made excellent progress while at this program.

Life at home with my child is easier after attending this program.

The practices used by staff at my child's program to respond to children's behavior problems are ones I am comfortable with.

81% 89% 91% 96% 81% 91%

Parent Voices...

He has excelled in his speech and ability to talk, he has learned to share and interact with kids and he has learned a lot of colors and letters with this program."

How to interact with other children.
Becoming more outgoing. Becoming more independent."

She has learned to freely express herself, which was encouraged by her teacher."

Learning about his and his peers' feelings and how to deal with them, how to resolve issues without anger."

Pub: 01/24/22

 A survey was sent to 9 states engaged in statewide Pyramid Model Implementation using the statewide Pyramid Model implementation approach. One hundred and seven family members responded across 5 states.

ChallengingBehavior.org

The reproduction of this document is encouraged. Permission to copy is not required. If modified or used in another format, please cite original source. This is a product of the National Center for Pyramid Model Innovations and was made possible by Cooperative Agreement #H326B170003 which is funded by the U.S. Department of Education, Office of Special Education Programs. However, those contents do not necessarily represent the policy of the Department of Education, and you should not assume endorsement by the Federal Government.